

MASHED BUDDHA

subdue your mind

Full Length Debut

Style: drum n bass n keyboards/electronica

Sounds Like: Fila Brazillia, Orbital, Roni Size, Propellerheads

subdue your mind* consists of grooves that are at times hypnotic, dissonant, symphonic, emotional, or all of the above over a rhythmic foundation of jungle and drum n bass. An organic approach to electronic music that one reviewer calls "an instant classic."

Buddha-ful Music

By Gary Carra

"It hasn't been surprising to watch local keyboardist John Corda shift effortlessly between rock, reggae, funk, groove, and jazz projects in recent years. After all, he's a classically trained pianist with a B.A. in jazz studies.

"But even the most well-rounded, passionate musicians have preferences, and despite his unabashed track record of genre-hopping, the 31-year-old synth wiz is no exception.

"From the swirling, trance-inducing 'Spikes' to the Prince-ly overdrive of 'Edge,' it's clear that this one-man effort, which has been dubbed Mashed Buddha, is as inspired as it is unconventional."

A cool eclectic mix of stuff that teases your cortex in some way that I can't really describe...very freaky spacy electronica" - Aural Innovations.com

"What do you get when you mix a cup of jagged beats with a spoonful of savory funk-laden groove? You guessed it, Mashed Buddha. Influenced by funk, rock, jazz, reggae, and drum 'n' bass, Mashed Buddha's electronic recipes are delectable" - Editor's Pick, Download.com

"A compelling and inspiring joint that works its way into your head analyzing your Zen status and applying a bit of a karmic good rub on your soul. Excellent."
